PIETRE DI RAPOLANO[®] STONE

MADE IN TUSCANY www.pietredirapolano.com

Pietra Di Rapolano Stone is widely used for Interior and Exterior applications.

Tuscany Stone has two quarries in the Siena Region of Italy where we extract our material from.

From one quarry - (SAT) we extract a light background material with some movement in each selection.

From the other quarry (Becagli) we extract a beige background material which also has particular movement per selection.

Each specific color selection is available in several different sizes, and also different surface finishes to satisfy all your needs.

Each color selection has a special variation unto itself which makes each selection very rich and unique looking.

It is within the variation of each selection that you will find the characteristics that make our Stone unique looking.
